what is the Stock market?

The stock market is a market in which companies sell parts of themselves to the general populace. The parts are called stocks.

The stock market is a market to track the cost of these stocks.

Importance of Stock market

02

The first reason why the stock market is important is because it helps businesses to gain money to grow their company. Companies sell stocks to make money

The second reason why the stock market is to make money. Stocks can rise to extreme heights, meaning that if you buy and sell strategically, you can make large amounts of money

A third reason is because it helps good ideas succeed. Of a company with a good idea is able to sell their stocks, then they can use that money to make the business larger, growing the idea.
